Beginnings

The Creation

In the very beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. The earth had no shape or form, and there was only water and darkness. The spirit of God hovered over the waters, radiating warmth.

God said, "Let there be light." And there was light. It flooded out when God spoke. God saw that the light was good, and he separated the light from the darkness. He called the light "day" and the darkness "night". And there was evening and there was morning. It was the first great day of creation.

God said, "Let there be an arching roof to separate the waters above from the waters below." And, having spoken, God made an arching roof called the "heavens". And there was evening and there was morning. It was the second great day of creation.

God said, "Let the water under the heavens come together, and let dry land appear." And, having spoken, it was so. God called the dry land "earth" and the waters "seas." Then God said, "Let the earth grow plants and fruit trees that give seeds." And, having spoken, it was so. God saw that it was good. And there was evening and there was morning. It was the third great day of creation.

God said, "Let there be lights in the arching roof of the heavens to separate

DREAMING AHEAD OF TIME

Experiences with Precognitive Dreams,
Synchronicity and Coincidence

GARY LACHMAN

Available rights: World ex. Italian

Gary Lachman analyses his own experiences of coincidence, synchronicity and precognition, revealing the power of our dreaming minds and how we can all unlock the ability to 'dream ahead of time'.

- An insightful and unique book which presents the compelling theory that we can all harness the potential of our minds while we dream
- Esteemed esoteric author Gary Lachman shares his personal experiences of forty years of precognitive dreams
- Sheds light on intriguing questions. Can we see the future in our dreams? Does time flow in one direction?

Author: Gary Lachman is a well-known author, lecturer and philosopher. His many books about the links between consciousness, culture, and the western esoteric tradition include Lost Knowledge of the Imagination, The Quest for Hermes Trismegistus and Caretakers of the Cosmos. He writes for several journals in the US and UK and lectures widely. Gary's books have been translated into more than a dozen languages, and he has appeared in several radio and television documentaries.

CONNECTION ACTIVITY Home rhythms

Providing predictable daily rhythms for children helps them to know what to expect during their day, allowing them to feel safe, secure and 'at home'. You can create family rhythms by repeating the same games, songs or verses alongside everyday activities, such as morning greetings, at mealtimes, rest times and bedtime. These little family rituals or routines create feelings of trust and connection for children and make ordinary family moments feel extraordinary. Here are some ideas for daily family rhythms, but you may find that you have a few of your own already.

- You could say good morning with butterfly kisses – fluttering your eyelashes on soft cheeks, or nose kisses – rubbing the tips of your noses together.
- Perhaps have a big cuddle and 'Fill your love tank' (see page xx).
- It's important to relax before rest time. Why not read together inside a cubby or den (see page xx).
- Family meals are times to connect. Try lighting a candle or playing dinner-time chatting or thank-you games (see page xx).
- Bedtime touch games and lullabies end the day in a warm and loving way.

- Weekly and yearly home rhythms might include:
- Sunday pancakes
 - Friday pizza
 - Saturday lemonade
 - Birthday ceremonies
 - Celebrating seasonal festivals

Every family will find their own daily, weekly and yearly rhythms, which become the foundations of their unique family 'home'.

NATURE INSPIRATION Seasonal tables

Setting up a seasonal table in your home gives you an opportunity to create a seasonal family rhythm and regularly bring the wonder of nature inside for children. It is the perfect place to keep the found treasures your children collect on their nature walks.

You will need

- Somewhere to put the seasonal table: a small table, shelf, or the centre or edge of the dinner table
- Cloth to lay over the table in a colour to suit the season
- Seasonal card or picture
- Vase for flowers or branches
- Seasonal treasures found in nature
- Any craft creations and special items to suit each season

Winter

Choose a cloth in cool blue or whites to represent the cold of winter, or dark blue for the night sky. Create small paper frost crystals or snowflakes and gold stars to hang from the bare branches in a vase. Add a little lantern to the table (see page xx), or a homemade candle, decorated with stars (see page xx). Crystals and gnomes represent nature working underground until spring.

'An excellent cross-generational book!
 – Carousel

'This project book, complete with colourful string, is a great resource giving readers the chance to play games, make pictures and act out stories – all using string. Diagrams for over 80 activities are easy to follow, even for an instruction phobic parent!'

– The Green Parent

The sense of achievement when the desired result is reached is very satisfying! ... It can be addictive: back to Jacob's Ladder ...!

– Diana Barnes, The School Librarian

Finger Strings

Michael Taylor

A practical book of string games for children, with full colour step-by-step instructions for over 80 games.

String games encourage creativity and help children to practise movement skills and interacting with others. They can be especially useful for teaching children who are dyslexic, or who struggle at school. The games are suitable for children of all abilities, from the very young to those with greater dexterity.

The book comes with two brightly coloured strings, making it easy to get started.

Size: 229 x 210 mm
 Binding: Spiral
 Pages: 144
 Printing: full colour

Michael Taylor is a teacher at Philpots Manor School in the UK who promotes traditional childhood games of movement and agility for the classroom, playground and gym. He is the author of Pull the Other One and Now You See It

Big star

1. Make Opening A. Thumbs get far little finger strings from below (after going over own far strings, down through index loops and below near little finger strings).

2. Middle fingers, over index loops, get far thumb strings from below. Release thumbs (not shown).

3. Thumbs, over near index string, under everything else, get far little finger string from below. Release little fingers (not shown).

4. Thumbs, over index loops, under near middle strings, get far middle strings from below. Release middle fingers (not shown).

5. Index fingers, over near index strings, get far thumb strings from below.

6. Index fingers, over top far index strings, down through lower loops, allow lower loops to slip off.

7. Middle and ring fingers pinch near lower thumb string after going below all strings except the upper thumb string.

8. Pinched string is brought down through thumb loop.

9. Release thumbs. Thumbs retake middle finger string from base of middle finger for the 'Big star.'

10. Place a second string above the first and then lift lower strings over upper and off the fingers.

11. Display with the help of a second person (or elbows as shown here).
